Dear Mr. Sample,

To me, one of the most rewarding things about working at Brewster Place is watching others discover how fulfilling retirement living can be. Take, for example, George and Mary. Perhaps you can relate.

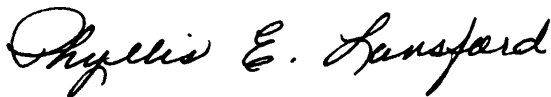

Mary wasn't happy to see her husband, George, out mowing the lawn in the summer heat. And some jobs, like cleaning the gutters, were just getting too big. When a friend moved to Brewster Place, Mary asked George if they could take a look. George commented that those places were for older folks who wanted to slow down, ease up and be taken care of. But when their son's job took his family to another city, George and Mary realized how much they had relied on their companionship and help. It was time to think about the future.

What George and Mary found when they visited Brewster Place was a pleasantly surprising, wonderfully active lifestyle. They moved in and traded household chores, cooking every night and yard work for day trips with friends, dinner theatre and continuing education classes. Like so many new residents, George said, "I wish we would have moved here sooner."

At Brewster Place, you can live just like you do now, but with added convenience and many new opportunities. Just think, what if great friends lived right next door? Then someone would always have time to join you in the campus fitness center or on a trip to Topeka Civic Theatre. What if, when you travel to see friends or family out of town, you didn't need to worry about how safe your home would be while you were away? That sure would be easier. And when it's bitter cold outside and you're out of groceries, you can enjoy a great meal in the dining room.

What's holding you back from exploring Brewster Place? Why not join us for lunch and learn more. You just might be pleasantly surprised. I'll be hosting an informational lunch on Friday, September 25th, from 10:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. in the Main Building private dining room. In the meantime, you can find more details online at www.BrewsterPlace.org. If you have questions, or would like to reserve a seat for lunch, call 274-3348 today.

Best regards,
